"My life as an Immigrant"

Kamala Harris needs to fight for Refugees by making our voices heard. She can help refugee programs. America is a nation of immigrants. We can't let the Refugees Programs to shut down because they need our help and support.

A lot of people don't understand about refugees. They have to run away from their homeland because of war. And that's how they become refugees. It's really hard. My family is a refugee family from Burma. We traveled from Burma, to Thailand, to the US. Some issues in my family is worrying a lot and most of all school and education because if we don't go through college how can we manage our life.

I want to tell Harris, "We want life". As refugees, we want a peaceful life. We were born from our mother to live and we are thankful. We just want help and support because a lot of refugees are hungry, sick, and have a hard time because they don't speak English. I am one of the people who got help and support from everyone. Making people happy and warmth is about being around them and help them so they don't feel lost and lonely. Growing up in America is not easy because you can't speak English, you don't know where you're going and people can say stuff about you. As growing up, there's a lot to worry, (about education, finding jobs, making friends), but it's on your own.

If there's a chance for everyone to go to school they could've learn new things so they can experience how it feels to be young. Some people think without knowledge and wisdom and that it's someone who will be our president. It's not right to shut down Refugees Programs because they want to get away from war, or hunger, or bad things they don't want to go through. In the US, after school when you go home you always tell your parents what's going on with your day, they may dislike or hate but that's when you get the chance to get to know more things and accomplish the goal you have. Refugees people would have a difficult time to get in the U.S but I was one of the lucky one who gets to come. I am really proud to come to the U.S because there's a bright future waiting for me and I am really thankful. Being asian in America is really different because the food, the houses, the bills, the school seems normal except the language. The place I was from was Thailand but my family is from Burma that's where they were born but I was born in Thailand because of war they have to escape from war. Now we're so lucky to be in the U.S because there's no war but violence. I am Asian and I'm proud to be a refugee.
