Chateau Pontet-Canet, Pauillac (2016) — $170

100 points Wine Enthusiast: "A voluptuous wine, magnificent structure."

99 points Vinous: "Absolutely breathtaking. Powerful, ample and racy in the glass, exquisitely well-balanced young Pontet-Canet."

98 points Robert Parker's Wine Advocate: "Hits the ground running with a hedonistic nose, finishing with incredible length and depth."

Vina Almaguilla, Chile (2017) — $129

100 points James Suckling. Nicknamed "The Opus One of Chile," Almaguilla is the joint venture between Baron Philippe de Rothschild and Vina Concha y Toro and combines the best of Chile's terroir with the finest Bordeaux winemaking tradition. This opulent and powerful wine is called a "dream buy." Best to drink in 2025 or after.

Teeter Totter Cabernet Sauvignon, Napa (2017) — $60

A luxury Napa powerhouse from a 100-point winemaker with a cult following, Teeter Totter is crafted by Benoit Touquette, author of eight 100-point wines including Screaming Eagle and Ovid. Collectors pay over $400 for his Cabernets but for Teeter Totter, Benoit combined his world-renowned expertise with premium sources to craft a stunning and unbeatable bargain.
